daniel w hayter explores the concept of inaugurated resurrection within earliest christianity the view that believers have experienced a present resurrection with christ in advance of their final resurrection at his return he argues that belief in inaugurated resurrection is already discernible in paul s own writings in large part due to the influence of scripture suggesting that the influence of ezekiel 36 37 on paul s understanding of the gift of the spirit helps to explain this belief paul saw inaugurated resurrection as a way of speaking of receiving the spirit hayter thus examines the reception of ezekiel 36 37 in second temple jewish literature in order to situate paul s own understanding of these chapters in the wider jewish context and follows with an extensive exploration of ezekiel 36 37 in paul s own writings he argues that paul understood ezekiel s vision of the resurrection of dry bones to have been fulfilled in the present in the gift of god s spirit to those in christ that paul s understanding of ezekiel is then brought to bear on a close exegesis of romans 6 1 14 and that paul s view of the spirit in light of ezekiel 36 37 helps to explain the strong connection between inaugurated resurrection and baptism hayter concludes that far from being non bodily inaugurated resurrection by baptism in one spirit implies incorporation into the resurrected body of christ
